Jerry's practice includes business torts, misappropriation of trade secrets, false advertising, defamation, construction, products liability, and insurance matters. He represents local, national, and international clients in state and federal courts as well as in mediations and arbitrations.

Client Work

Jerry's client work focuses predominantly on representation of corporations and partnerships in business disputes. He also represents large contractors and subcontractors in disputes involving delay and disruption claims, design changes, breach of contract, and fraud. A sample of Jerry's representations includes:

- Obtained jury verdict in client's favor on claims for misappropriation of trade secrets, breach of contract, and breach of duty of loyalty against a former employee who stole company records before joining a competitor. Judgment includes compensatory damages, costs, and punitive damages. This case was one of the Top 25 breach of contract verdicts in California in 2017.
- Obtained summary judgment for $69 million in suit against two corporations that engaged in fraud, trademark infringement and counterfeiting, and breach of license agreement. The judgment included treble damages, interest, and attorney's fees.
- Defended sportswear manufacturer and 15 national retailers in federal trademark infringement trial. During trial, the case settled for a fraction of the plaintiff's claimed damages.
- Represented creator and manufacturer of changing portraits for the haunt industry in defense of copyright infringement action; following a five-day federal court trial, judgment was entered against the plaintiff on the copyright claim, and the court awarded attorneys' fees to Jerry's client.
- Defeated a plaintiff's effort to obtain a preliminary and permanent injunction in suit challenging use of the plaintiff's name as a website domain name. Following the court's determination that the plaintiff could not demonstrate a likelihood of prevailing on the merits, the plaintiff dismissed the suit and paid Jerry's client's attorney's fees.
- Represented Indian tribe prosecuting claim against financial services vendor that converted nearly

$1 million in funds from the tribe's casino; the arbitrator found in favor of the tribe.

- Defended contractor in claim by subcontractor for extra-contractual damages; on the third day of trial, the court granted a defense motion for non-suit, dismissed the jury and awarded the defense its attorneys' fees.
- Represented nonprofit sober living facility sued by a former director for defamation; following an 11-day trial, the court found in favor of Jerry's client on four tort claims and awarded only nominal damages on the remaining claim; judgment was upheld on appeal.
- Obtained arbitration award that included damages, attorneys' fees and costs, following nine-day arbitration of breach of contract claim by subcontractor against general contractor and owner in a project for the construction of a warehouse and railroad car loading facility; the case involved multiple claims for delay and disruption, and more than 50 unpaid change orders.
- Represented a prominent southern California mechanical engineer in a $200 million construction defect case involving the Bacara Resort and Spa, an exclusive California resort near Santa Barbara; despite the extensive damages claimed, Jerry demonstrated that none of the damages were caused by work performed by his client.
- Negotiated, on behalf of a contractor and hospital, the removal and replacement of three 900-ton capacity chillers that failed to perform as warranted; the manufacturer not only paid for the removal of the defective chillers from the hospital, but purchased replacement chillers from a competitor manufacturer.
- Negotiated settlement of multimillion-dollar delay and disruption claim involving construction of shopping mall, with the owner and developer agreeing to pay our client, a subcontractor, within weeks of the filing of our complaint.
- Defended a subcontractor in multimillion-dollar construction defect litigation in Orange County Superior Court involving more than 100 homes as well as common areas in a planned development community.
- Defended annuity issuer in fraud and elder abuse case by 84-year-old who purchased three immediate annuities.
- Defended a father and his adult children, all shareholders in several family-run corporations, in a suit filed by the grandfather for breach of fiduciary duty; the complex dispute involved issues of corporate control and the operations of five interrelated family businesses over the course of 50 years.
- Obtained a federal court order dismissing a California private securities case against a Florida municipality on a Sarbanes-Oxley issue of first impression in California.
